REMEDY LAYERS

INFLUENCE OF CAUSATIVE / DISEASE MAINTAINING FACTORS?

this seminar will teach you on friday and saturday precisely when to take the remedy fitting for the causal factor and when to choose for other symptoms which might not seem to fit the case in the first place.

FOLLOW UP

on sunday you will be present when Erik takes follow up cases live in class - providing a deep insight into a great masters work. There is no better way to learn. The cases are discussed in depth afterwards and will remain open to all questions arising in the class.

FRIDAY 07.09.2018 / SATURDAY 08.09.2018

INFLUENCE OF CAUSATIVE AND DISEASE MAINTAINING FACTORS?

Causative factors have been given a special place in our literature since Hahnemann's times: special remedies are needed for certain causative factors. Although this discovery is very important for the treatment of certain cases, it has also led to a lot of confusion.

Regardless whether it is vaccinations, accidents, hormonal changes, etc. they all can alter remedy patterns or create new layers - the most important influence of a causal factor.

But do they really do so? And how do we handle them? „There does not necessarily develop a new layer but we have to carefully investigate upon this...“ says Erik - naming the goal of the seminar.

Further on we will discuss Friday and Saturday how to gain insight into any possible changes the organism has gone through. The aim is to try to find out whether there have been any negative influences in the past that may have had a lasting negative effect on the patient's overall state of health and that have weakened the defence mechanism, the so-called causative and disease-maintaining factors.

In order to demonstrate their effect on the organism, Erik will show several cases with different causal or disease maintaining factors. Serving as examples of how this kind of situation should be handled in daily practice, they will give you a better understanding of the influence of causal factors.

SUNDAY 09.09.2018

On Sunday the topic will be the follow up. Erik will teach us his technique in taking a follow up, explaining which symptoms are to be taken into consideration or left out.

By witnessing live cases taken by Erik in class you will have a deep insight into a great master's work. There is no better way to learn.

The cases are discussed in depth afterwards and will remain open to all questions arising in the class.
